Workforce Education and Development

The Department of Workforce Education and Development offers a major in Workforce Education and Development with a specialization in Organizational Training and Development. Graduates with the degree under the Organizational Training and Development specialization are prepared for such positions as instruction and learning (training) specialist, training curriculum developer/instructional systems designer, human resource specialist, or internal auditor/training evaluator in private sector training departments. On approval of the department, students may complete a minor in WED major within the Organizational Training and Development specialization. A grade of C or better is required in all WED prefix courses. Eligible students may elect to apply for Capstone.

Organizational Training and Development Specialization

The purpose of the Organizational Training and Development (OTD) specialization is to prepare people for training and development positions in corporate, apprenticeship, proprietary, government, military and volunteer organizations, as well as, community colleges and other post-secondary technical institutions. OTD students are prepared in the areas of instruction and learning, training program development, administration, and supervision. Also, the OTD specialization establishes a sound academic base for advanced study in the WED graduate concentration. OTD graduates are prepared as technical instructors, occupational analysts, curriculum designers, curriculum writers, managers, supervisors, and related training and development positions.

The OTD specialization is comprised of “Regular” and “Capstone” options. Both options have University Core, Professional Sequence, Occupational Training, and Work Experience requirements. The semester hours posted for each area represent the minimum number of semester hours needed to complete the 120 semester hour requirement for graduation.
